

Controlling Your Timeline

Overview:

Timeline helps you tell your story. You have complete control over what's on your Timeline, who sees it and how you want to show it.

Inline Controls – Just as today, for every post there is an inline control beside it that shows you who can see it and gives you the option of changing it.

Activity Log – Your private Activity Log lets you control which stories you want to feature and which ones you'd prefer to hide. You can also change the privacy beside each post or even delete it. To find a specific story or type of story, simply filter by content type or application. You will also find your pending posts here and can quickly approve new content tagged by your friends.

Apps – For any apps that you want to add to your Timeline, we've also made some upgrades to app controls. If you want to add something to your Timeline, you'll see a pop-up dialogue that tells you more about what information you're sharing with the app. You can also change any of your permissions at any time from your Application dashboard under your Account Settings.
